Crew-in-Training Program

Summerhouse Crew-in-Training (CIT) is an opportunity for students to expand their understanding of responsibility, as well as their sense of self, as part of a team. In this program, participants spend the summer learning management, operational, and leadership skills.

Initial CIT training includes a week-long intensive process with students learning and practicing these skills. Then, for their selected 2-week sessions, CITs will work side-by-side with Crew and interact with Summerhouse Kids.

During the mandatory training week, CITs will learn:
